

Glossary

- Anger – A basic emotion expressing dislike or displeasure.
- Anxiety - A state in which an individual experiences feelings of uneasiness and worry and tends to anticipate that there will be danger or failure in the future.
- Artificial Intelligence – A subfield of computer science enabling software programs to run machines just like human intelligence.
- Attention – Sustained concentration on specific stimulus
- Cardinal traits - In Allport's theory of personality it refers to a trait that is so powerful and pervasive that almost every act of the individual is influenced by and can be traced back to it.
- Central traits - In Allport's theory of personality it refers to relatively general characteristics of an individual that apply to most circumstances.
- Concept – A mental representation or idea that represents a category.
- Conscientiousness – One of the personality factors in the Big Five Factor Model characterised by the tendency to be responsible, organised, and hardworking.
- Correlation Coefficient – A number which denotes the magnitude and direction of the relationship between two variables, it ranges between -1.00 to + 1.00.
- Delusion - A false belief that is strongly held by an individual even in the presence of contradictory evidence.
- Dependent Variable – The variable being studied in an experiment it may change due to manipulations of the independent variable.
- Depression - A state of experiencing sadness, pessimism, loss of interest in activities that previously were enjoyable along with physical, cognitive and behavioural changes.
- Distress - A negative emotional state indicating worry.
- DSM-5 - The fifth edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders-5 was published by the American Psychiatric Association in 2013; it is a widely used manual on the definition and classification of mental disorders.
- Dysfunction - Any impairment or disturbance leading to abnormality in behaviours or functioning.
- Emotional abuse - It is a non physical form of abuse in which an individual purposely subjects another to behaviours such as intimidation, isolation, humiliation, rejection and verbal abuse.
- Emotional Intelligence - An individual's ability to perceive, assess, evaluate and regulate one's own and other's emotions accurately.
- Emotional well being - It is an overall positive state of one's emotions.
- Emotions - A complex response pattern which involves physiological arousal, expression of behaviours and conscious experience.
- Empathy - it is the ability to understand and share the similar feelings of another.
- Extrovert – An individual who is social, outgoing and openly expressive prefers social interactions.

- Hallucination - It is a false perception that occurs in the absence of a stimuli.
- Happiness - An emotional state showing feelings of joy, gladness, satisfaction and well being.
- Heredity - It is the genetic material that partially determines individual characteristics and is transmitted from one's parents to their children (offspring).
- Hypothesis - A tentative explanation that can be tested to determine if it is true.
- ICD- 11 - The International Classification of Diseases and Related Health Problems issued by the World Health Organisation (WHO) consisting of a manual on the definition and classification of mental disorders.
- Independent Variable - In an experiment the variable that is systematically changed or manipulated by the experimenter in order to study its effect on the dependent variable.
- Intelligence Quotient - The standard score of an individual's intelligence based on an intelligence test. It is also known as IQ.
- Interview - An assessment tool for data collection involving face to face communication that can be used for diagnosis and in research.
- Introvert - An individual who is reserved, quiet and prefers working independently.
- Learning - The ability to acquire knowledge or skills, or any relatively permanent changes in one's behaviour as a result of experience or practice.
- Life above zero - It is an element of positive psychology that involves adopting mindful responses to various experiences in life to raise our mental well-being and make life enriching and meaningful.
- Mental age - Is a measure of a child's performance on an intelligence test and relative to the performance of other children of the same age on the same test.
- Mental Health - It is a state of mind that is characterised by emotional well-being, good adjustment and ability to cope with the demands and stresses of daily living.
- Mental Representation - An internal representation of information.
- Mental wellbeing - It is a feeling of wellness in which an individual realises his or her own potential, can cope with stressful situations and can make productive contributions to the society to live a meaningful life.
- Mindfulness - It is a state of being conscious and fully aware of the present moment.
- Neuroticism - One of the personality factors in the Big Five Factor Model characterised by the tendency to experience negative emotions such as nervousness, tension and worry.
- Optimism - It is a positive mental attitude that is characterised by hopefulness and a belief that good things will happen in the future.
- Participant - In a research study the individual who voluntarily participates and whose behaviour is being studied. Also called a subject or experimental participant.

- Perception - The process by which we recognise, organise and interpret of sensory information.
- Performance tests – Any test that requires the individual to perform or do something such as completing a task or manipulating objects rather than respond using language.
- Pessimism - It is a negative mental attitude that is characterised by hopelessness and an anticipation that negative events are more likely to happen.
- Positive psychology - This is a branch of psychology that focuses on strengths and virtues that enable individuals, communities and organisations to thrive.
- Procrastination - Is the avoidance of completing a task that needs to be completed.
- Projective methods – They are techniques which use vague or ambiguous stimuli which allow the individual to reveal their personality through their unique responses.
- Questionnaire – An instrument typically used in a research study that consists of a series of questions that is used to collect information from the participants.
- Rating Scale – An instrument in which a respondent gives a numeric value (i.e. rates) to an object or stimulus.
- Replicability – It is the possibility to replicate a research or its findings in order to test its validity.
- Resilience - This is the process of successfully adapting to challenges and difficulties in life.
- Schema - An organised framework of knowledge based on past experiences and memory and helps in perception and interpretation of new information in terms of existing knowledge.
- Sleep hygiene - Techniques and routines that can be followed to improve sleep patterns.
- Social Intelligence – An individual's ability to effectively relate to others.
- Social phobia - An anxiety disorder in which the individual experiences high levels of distress in social situations preventing them or causing them to avoid participating in social situations.
- Stigma - A negative social attitude which is associated with individuals diagnosed with a mental disorder and often leads to social disapproval, discrimination and exclusion of that individual in society.
- Syndrome - A set of symptoms that tend to occur together and can be associated with a particular physical or mental disorder.
- Thinking – It is a cognitive process which involves mental representation and manipulation of information.
- Trait approach – According to this perspective every individual possess specific characteristics and patterns of behaviour that shape personality.
- Trigger - An event or stimuli that causes a reaction.
- Type approach - According to this perspective individuals are classified into groups based on certain characteristics which shape personality.

References

- Akhtar, S. (2012). The Book of Emotions. India: Roli Books.
- Barlow, D.H., & Durand, V. M., (2012). Abnormal Psychology: An Integrative Approach (7th Ed.). USA: Cengage Learning.
- Baumgartner S.R, Crothers M.K. (2009) Positive Psychology. New Delhi: Pearson Education
- Ciccarelli, S.K., & Meyer, G.E. (2008). Psychology: South Asian Edition. New Delhi: Pearson Education.
- Crow, L.D., & Crow, A., (1965). Adolescent Development and Adjustment. McGraw Hill.
- Evans, D.(2001). Emotion: The Science of Sentiment. Oxford.
- Goleman, D. (1995). Emotional intelligence. Bloomsbury Publishing India Private Limited
- Goleman, D. (2006). Working with emotional intelligence. New York: Bantam Books.
- Morgan, C.T., King, R.A., Weiss, J.R., & Schopler, J. (2004). Introduction to Psychology. New Delhi: Tata McGraw Hill.
- National Council of Behavioral Health, (2019). ALGEE In Action : Helping a Friend in Need. Retrieved on November 2, 2019 from <https://www.mentalhealthfirstaid.org/external/2017/09/algee-action-helping-friend-need/>
- Patel, V., (2003). Where there is no psychiatrist: A mental health care manual. UK: Bell & Bain Limited.
- Puff, R., & Seghers, J. (2014). The everything guide to anger management: proven techniques to understand and control anger. Avon, MA: Adams Media
- Sagar, R., & Prakash, S. (2016). Dignity & first aid in mental health. The Indian journal of medical research, 144(4), 496.
- Shankardass MK. Mental Health Issues in India: Concerns and Response. Indian J Psy Nsg [serial online] 2018 [cited 2019 Nov 2];15:58-60. Available from: <http://www.ijpn.in/text.asp?2018/15/1/58/262509>
- Sternberg, R.J. (2007). Cognitive Psychology. Australia: Thomson Wadsworth.

