Accepting deposits from the public or from its own members is one of the sources of raising funds for a company. It is cheaper to raise funds through deposits. Moreover, there is no dilution of control as it is a type of short term loan taken by the company. However accepting deposits can be a risky option for a company in case it defaults in repaying the deposits. (Meaning and definition of Public Deposit was discussed in chapter 2.) In this chapter we will learn which companies can collect deposits, the terms and conditions to be fulfilled and the procedure to collect deposits from members and public.

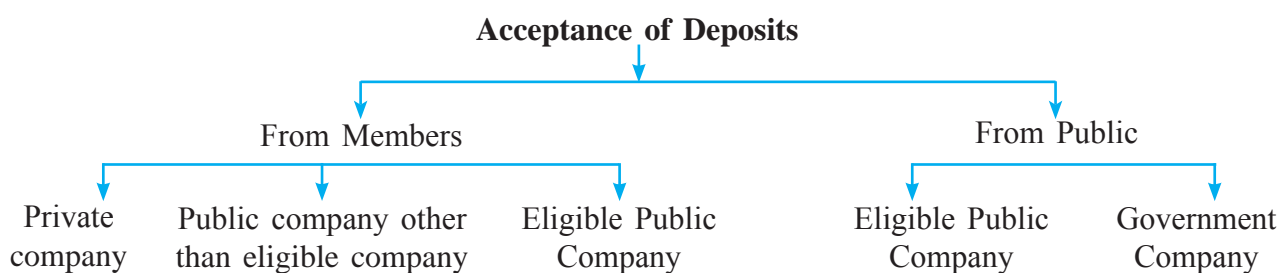

5.1 ACCEPTANCE OF DEPOSIT.

All companies, accepting deposits, except :

- i) A Banking Company
- ii) A Non-Banking Finance Company (NBFC)
